Mr. Mike Pender,
Director of State Exhibits,
New York World's Fair,
Flushing, 52, N. Y.

Dear Mike:

A 30-page Report on "The FAIR--A to Z) covering all exhibits, Free Pavilions, Entertainment and charges within the Fair, has just reached our office.

Will you please route this letter-of-correction to the proper source at once?

On page 13 of the Report, under ILLINOIS PAVILION:

Eliminate at once, the phrase "shakes hands with the visitor and answers questions."

This is completely untrue and we have no idea where such false information may have been secured.

Our Walt Disney LINCOLN FIGURE does NEITHER!

Correctly described it should read:

"The lifesize, lifelike Lincoln figure talks, sits, stands and gestures. Its words include excerpts from some of Mr. Lincoln's speeches, many as appropriate today as when they were spoken more than 100 years ago."

We consider it imperative that this incorrect descriptive material be revised as soon as possible.

Can you see that it is done?
